We use a tried-and-tested list of criteria when scouting for courses; our many years of experience mean that we know exactly what qualities to expect in each region of the world. We take on board feedback from our golf pros when it comes to newly built or renovated courses. We are happy to experiment when we receive top ratings and we head for new destinations each year.

You'll find fun golfing gems in Porto Santo Stefano in Tuscany. Nestled in the surroundings of Duna Feniglia Nature Reserve, Argentario Golf Club offers a breathtaking panorama with the lagoon of Orbetello, the sea and the pretty hills of Monte Argentario. The exciting holes are characterised by pronounced fairway undulations, with some slopes to master. The wind blowing off the sea also has an impact on play.

The parkland course of the Opio Valbonne Golf Club welcomes you to the hills above Cannes, where it blends harmoniously into an unspoilt area of mixed forest. With trees over a century old, this course is a true treasure of the Riviera. The well-planted fairways demand good course management, while its easy to send your ball rolling the right way on the often expansive greens.

MONTE CARLO – BARCELONA

Who will get the best score on the Mediterranean? At the Golf de Servanes course near Saint-Remy-de-Provence, the relatively narrow, undulating fairways run past thousands of olive trees. The signature sixth hole an island green, par 3 at just 122 m (133 yd) from the back tee is certainly worthy of a souvenir selfie. The tight tee options from the tee boxes demand a sure hand.

A dream of a golf course awaits on Corsica. Five of the 18 holes at Sperone Golf Club run directly along the steep southern coast and the Mediterranean Sea – the views of the breathtaking natural beauty provide quite the distraction for players. The fairways often present some heavy undulations between the tee and the green.

MONTE CARLO – CIVITAVECCHIA (ROME)

01 Sep – 10 Sep 2024 | 9 days

On this voyage of discovery to the northern Mediterranean, French and Italian golf courses present enjoyable contrasts. The characteristic course of Golf du Cap d'Agde near Sete is a real delight. The three nine-hole courses are shaped by the geological features: broad fairways that weave through ancient oaks and shrubs, numerous dog-legs that come into contact with plenty of water, and areas fringed by lava rock.

A varied game awaits you at the Cosmopolitan Golf & Country Club near Florence. At only around 500 m (547 yd) from the sea, the course is designed with dunes and dips to preserve the existing features of the terrain. Look forward to an 18-hole course with varying contact with water hazards along the way. Half of the fairways are wide and half are narrow. The seven man-made water hazards can make your round a little wet at times. Good course management is certainly an advantage here.

BARCELONA – BILBAO

20 Jul – 31 Jul 2023 | 11 days

You'll be following in the footsteps of golfing greats around the Iberian peninsula. The resort course at Finca Cortesin Golf Club has an American feel and is also a joy to behold. With its open design, the course provides plenty of fantastic far-reaching views. The fairways are very wide, but often feature strong undulations.

A different kind of pilgrimage: the Real Aero Club de Santiago is not far from the famous pilgrimage site of Santiago de Compostela and has something new to offer even keen golfers. The narrow fairways with constantly changing slopes make this 5,850 m (6,398 yd) pilgrimage through the nature of northern Spain into a sporting challenge.

High-class golf courses adorn your route along the Atlantic west coast. The multi-award-winning Golf du Medoc course near Bordeaux in what is possibly the world's most famous wine-growing region is a real treat. The parkland course blends into the natural setting with its fairways and maintains a link to the surrounding wine-growing areas throughout, which will whet your appetite for a glass of red after your round. You'll be invited to stay and enjoy a drink.

Near Antwerp, you'll find Belgium's oldest golf course, which was established in 1888. The fairways of the charming course at the Royal Antwerp Golf Club are hugged by forested landscapes – you'll need tailored course management and a rather cautious approach.

This route follows the Atlantic coast from north to south and is sure to thrill any golfing fan. Not far from Honfleur, Tom Simpsons debut course at Golf Barriere Deauville lies up on Mont Canisy. The three well-designed nine-hole options are split into the red, white and blue courses, offering something for players of every level to enjoy. Nicely planted fairways run past mature trees and expansive heathland.

It'll be no surprise to hear a course being compared to a good wine when you're golfing in one of the world's most famous wine-growing regions around Bordeaux. This is where you'll find the multi-award-winning 36-hole Golf du Medoc course. Enjoy a round on the Chateau Course, a typical parkland course, which blends harmoniously into the superb natural setting. Round off your golfing adventure with a wine tasting led by an expert.

LISBON – MALAGA

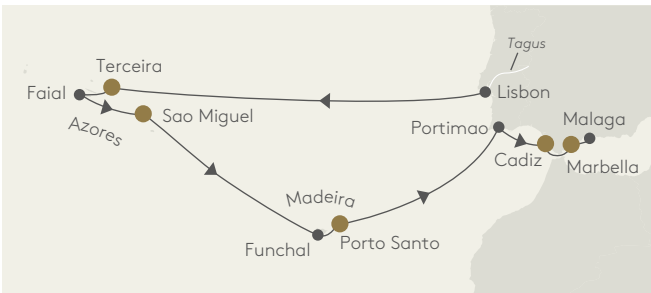

10 Aug – 23 Aug 2024 | 13 days

Golfing in the middle of the Atlantic? One place that grants this wish is the Clube de Golfe da Ilha Terceira, where a veritable 18-hole paradise awaits you, nestled in a sea of azalea and hydrangea flowers. But be careful when choosing your club, as the elevated setting at 375 m (1,230 ft) above sea level and the proximity to the ocean mean that it can get very windy.

Another fantastic place to play is where golfing legend Severiano Ballesteros made a dream come true. He created a very delicate design informed by nature for the 18-hole course of Porto Santo Golf Club. The North Course runs along the spectacular coastal cliffs for breathtaking views, while the South Course has a more American design with plenty of water features. You'll also encounter a remarkable six par 5 holes here.

HAMBURG – HAMBURG

15 Sep – 27 Sep 2023 | 12 days

You'll find the whole spectrum of classic golf design around the British Isles. The East Course at Dalmahoy Country Club is a course that stands firmly in the typical British style. The narrow fairways make concentration and precision essential for a successful game. This championship course also features a number of water hazards, which will put in several appearances during play.

The countryside outside Dublin is home to two 18-hole parkland adventures around an old English manor house. The O'Meara Course was created over 20 years ago and is named after its designer. A game here plays out in front of an impressive backdrop, with the generously designed holes leading past historic buildings.

This is a region with the potential to surprise you. With expansive fairways in a picturesque river valley, the National Golf Resort is Lithuania’s golfing pride and joy. The 18 relatively flat holes are enhanced by numerous water hazards. The 18th green, which was modelled after the shape of Lithuania on the map, presents a particular challenge due to its island design.

The beautifully landscaped Ozo Golf Club in Riga is Latvia’s first 18-hole course and offers a clear layout and manageable lengths. The parkland style treats golfers to forgiving fairways that are only rarely interrupted by bunkers. The course is varied but not very difficult.

This cruise takes you on a trip into a new world of golf. Not far from Tallinn in Estonia lies the Estonian Golf & Country Club, where the Sea Course owes its name to its location right on the Baltic Sea. Some very lush bunker landscapes bring a challenge to the game. Players who can maintain maximum control of their ball will have a clear advantage on this course.

The Gdansk Golf & Country Club Postolowo was named Poland’s best golf course by Golf Digest. In the middle of the course lies a large lake. The 18 holes and the 7,100 m (7,765 yd) from the rear tee demand a certain level of physical fitness from golfers. Bunker landscapes protect the designated landing areas, and the expansive fairways are so far apart that a golf cart is recommended.

Just as tempting for beginners as for advanced players – all golfers will be in their element on this Baltic Sea route. The course at Gdansk Golf & Country Club Postolowo demands great dedication. It was named the best course in Poland by Golf Digest magazine, and the 7,100 m (7,765 yd) from the rear tee are truly in the league of champions. There are plenty of nerve-racking bunker landscapes to tackle over the 18 holes.

Your game at the Danish Kokkedal Golfklub may well become a piece of precision golfing. Don't be deceived by the manicured parkland course – the fairways on the 18-hole course are mostly very narrow and are fringed by the original mature trees. Once you've safely reached your target, you'll finish on moderately sized, well-modulated greens. You can shine at any time with a careful approach.

AUCKLAND – SYDNEY

20 Jan – 07 Feb 2023 | 18 days

Golf at the carefully selected courses in the south of Australia and on the two islands of New Zealand. In the hills of the “Windy City”, you'll find one of New Zealand's top courses at the Royal Wellington Golf Club. The parkland course lies high above the ocean on dramatic cliffs, and the often strong wind is known to make its presence felt during play. There is a strict dress code here. Only white golf socks (knee-high socks are preferred) and shoes with soft spikes are permitted.

A course with high standards awaits you at Clearwater Golf Club in Lyttelton. The fairways on most of the holes run alongside water before reaching the fast greens. The final areas of play are guarded by well-placed bunkers.

SYDNEY – BALI

Golfing in Australia is an experience like no other, as the natural conditions have a huge influence on golf design here. Take for example Stonecutters Ridge Golf Club, where golf champion Greg Norman – otherwise known as “The Shark” – harmoniously integrated the existing bushland into his design for the lengthy course. The holes complement the geological features perfectly with fitting bunkers and challenging greens.

Immerse yourself in flora and fauna at Palmer Sea Reef Golf Course. The club describes its course as the only tropical links-style golf course in the world. A game here is a real adventure. Be careful when fishing lost balls out of the water hazards – saltwater crocodiles will be watching you.

16 Feb – 07 Mar 2024 | 20 days

Whether in New Zealand or Australia, this cruise is an impressive cultural and golfing experience. The striking park-land course at the Otago Golf Club offers golfers particularly exciting challenges and a fun game. A serious drive is required right from the tee boxes, but the 14th hole in particular will stick in your mind. The fairway with its 45-degree dog-leg requires a drive of at least 220 m (241 yd) to achieve the ideal line for conquering the 404 m (442 yd) length.

In Melbourne, the historic 18-hole course at Yarra Yarra Golf Club rests on more than a century of tradition. The extremely wide fairways and well-positioned bunkers produce an interesting layout. Those who can send their ball in the right direction here can look forward to playable, dependable greens.

LAEM CHABANG (BANGKOK) – COLOMBO

The golf courses in this region are just as full of flavour and variety as Asian cuisine. A unique blend of golf and nature awaits you at the Els Club Teluk Datai in Malaysia – a 27-hole course moulded into the cliffs with great finesse by Ernie Els. There are plenty of fabulous views of the Andaman Sea along the way. Highlights include the three holes that finish right on the coast of Langkawi.

Gigantic coconut palms line the fairways on the 18-hole paradise of Shangri-La’s Golf & Country Club, which was created on the site of a former coconut plantation. Water hazards make their presence felt on two-thirds of the holes. Please note that a personal caddie is obligatory on Asian courses.

NEW YORK – NEW YORK

17 Oct – 29 Oct 2023 | 12 days

The east coast of North America offers a route with exceptional golfing opportunities. The 18-hole Orchard Course at Newport National Golf Club was created on the site of a former orchard. The links-style course was designed by Arthur Hills and boasts a wide variety of local flora. The flat, very playable fairways and the views of the nearby Atlantic provide a wonderful backdrop for a relaxed game.

A rewarding golfing experience with exceptional visual appeal awaits at this course. There are three sets of nine holes to conquer at Granite Links Golf Club, divided into the Granite, Milton and Quincy courses. You can look forward to a blend of American parkland and links styles. Well-placed bunkers and tricky greens are combined with some significant undulation in places.

Cruise EUX2406

SAN FRANCISCO – COLON

10 Apr – 29 Apr 2024 | 19 days

This cruise takes you to true golfing gems on the west coast of North America. The beauty of nature is a recurring feature as you play. The two great masters Jack Nicklaus and Tom Weiskopf designed two 18-hole courses at Vista Vallarta Club de Golf. Players face a special challenge here with the extremely wide fairways and carefully placed bunkers. Impressive forests of palms and majestic ficus trees provide a backdrop for your round.

Equally captivating flora and extraordinary encounters with the fauna will also enthrall you at La Iguana Golf Course. An amazing 60 % of the fairways weave through breathtaking jungle landscapes, and the sounds of birds will accompany your game. Perhaps a yellow-throated toucan will grab your attention as you tackle some very narrow and difficult sections of fairway.
