Good to know: course selection criteria for Golf & Cruise voyages

One of the key requirements is accessibility: the golf courses should ideally be no more than 60 minutes from the port. We use a tried-and-tested list of criteria when scouting for courses; our many years of experience mean that we know exactly what qualities to expect in each region of the world. We take on board feedback from our golf pros when it comes to newly built or renovated courses. We are happy to experiment when we receive top ratings and we head for new destinations each year.
