REASONS TO EXPEDITION WITH LINDBLAD-NATIONAL GEOGRAPHIC

1 The human genetic drive to head out in ships and discover new things. For 50 over years, we've been introducing travellers to this exhilarating way to experience the planet's wonders.

2 Authentic expedition ships Ranging from 28 guests to 148 guests, our 15 ships, scaled to go where cruise ships can't, are equipped to bring you deep inside places where no infrastructure of docks or ports exist.

3 More of what you're 'out there' for Using our onboard Zodiacs, kayaks, stand-up paddle boards, snorkel gear, bow cams, hydrophones and video microscopes, we can make up-close, personal discoveries virtually anywhere.

4 Exclusively ours: the undersea Discover the virtually unknown realm beneath the ship—through our undersea specialist's icy dives. Watch vivid HD video—in the dry warmth of the ship's Lounge, perhaps with a cocktail in hand (available on most departures).

5 Renowned expedition teams We have achieved a reputation for having the best expedition teams in the business. Their knowledge, experience, personalities, superb spotting and storytelling skills ensure that you'll see, do and understand more.

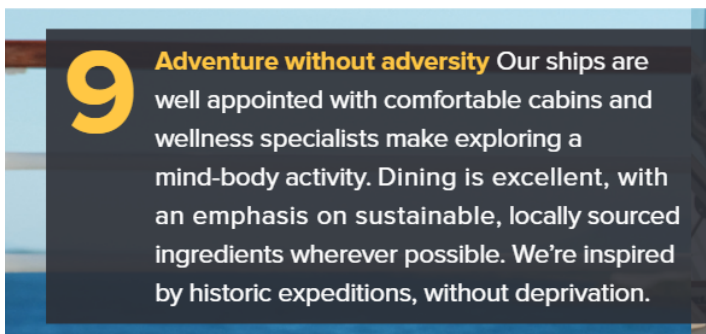

6 National Geographic photographers aboard Get inspiration and expert tips from top professionals on selected ships and departures. Hit the complimentary OM System Photo Gear Lockers aboard most ships to try out new cameras and glass.

7 Lindblad-National Geographic certified photo instructors/naturalists Aboard every ship, they help you with camera settings and basics, and to understand wildlife to better anticipate behaviour that leads to great shots.

8 Global Perspectives Guest Speakers On selected departures—travel with experts from the top tiers of journalism, science, and exploration. And on all our trips, count on rewarding local encounters.

9 Adventure without adversity Our ships are well appointed with comfortable cabins and wellness specialists make exploring a mind-body activity. Dining is excellent, with an emphasis on sustainable, locally sourced ingredients wherever possible. We're inspired by historic expeditions, without deprivation.

10 Going beyond limits & expectations To be on an expedition means to be free, with no 'port' schedule. We can be the first to set foot somewhere—because we are an expedition travel company and this is our mission.
