Celebrating
25
YEARS IN
French Polynesia

An aerial photograph of a tropical lagoon. The water is a vibrant turquoise color, with numerous dark, rocky patches visible beneath the surface. In the lower center of the frame, a small, circular thatched hut floats on the water. To the left of the hut, a person is swimming, their head and shoulders visible above the water. The overall scene is serene and idyllic.

Ma eva

Welcome, in Tahitian

la ora na

It often begins with 'Hello'. An everyday hello probably doesn't mean much but, when said at a key moment, it can change all kinds of things. Imagine the following: you've just arrived at Papeete. It has been a long voyage. The first words you hear are 'Maeva' and 'la ora na', spoken warmly with a smile, the 'r' rolled. Now you're there. The words 'welcome' and 'hello' are at the very heart of Polynesian hospitality.

They herald the start of a voyage marked by friendly conviviality and will precede every encounter you have with the local people on land, with the ship's crew, and with the Gauguins and the Gauguines: the hosts present by your side throughout your stay on board.

Having become part of the PONANT family in 2019 and now celebrating 25 years in Polynesia, Le Paul Gauguin distils the typically relaxed, international atmosphere offered by the company into an ambiance decidedly different from that of the other ships in the fleet.

Designed especially for the shallow waters of the South Pacific, Le Paul Gauguin also has its own particular adeptness to offer. It takes you, gently and smoothly, from the Society Islands to Fiji via the Tuamotu Archipelago and the Marquesas. Each port of call brings out your mana, that special aura given off by every being, every element. The scenery and surroundings play a large part in this. The private island of motu Mahana, idyllic beaches, countless lagoons, seabeds teeming with life, wild jungles, dizzying peaks – as the days pass, a veritable mosaic comprised of thousands of shades of green and blue fills and permeates you, bringing serenity. "C'est que du bonheur!" – it's nothing but joy – little by little, the mantra of this unique region takes on its full meaning. Ready for the voyage?

Happy reading,

Hervé Gastinel
PONANT CEO

6 reasons to sail with Paul Gauguin Cruises

A regional expert

One hundred and thirty years ago, the painter Paul Gauguin settled in Tahiti in search of a "sky without winter". Celebrating 25 years in 2023, the ship named in his honour and designed to navigate the shallow waters of the South Pacific has taken guests on a discovery of this far away part of the world where time seems to stand still. Wild islands cut by tormented reliefs, deep valleys, lush jungles, precious lagoons and secluded coves... Each moment on board Le Paul Gauguin promises a unique way of exploring the region.

Unprecedented routes

All Le Paul Gauguin itineraries have been designed to offer you an authentic experience of Polynesia and the islands of the South Pacific. Tahiti, Moorea, Bora Bora, the Tuamotus, the Marquesas, the Cook Islands, Fiji and Tonga: lasting from 7 to 14 nights, our trips offer you both a first discovery of these enchanting islands and time to get to know the South Pacific, its cultures and traditions. The many excursions and activities offered on each stopover ensure you don't miss out on anything in this unique environment.

A ship with the personal touch

Le Paul Gauguin has 165 staterooms and suites, each offering its own view of the incredible surroundings. To make sure you enjoy your trip with complete peace of mind, the ship has 1.5 crew members per guest, one of the best ratios in the cruise industry. The service is therefore very attentive and contributes to the warm on-board atmosphere.

More sustainable tourism

We have made many commitments in the pursuit of more responsible tourism. Here are a few of them:

- To consider the whole world to be a "zone with controlled sulphur oxide emissions" since 2019 and "nitrogen" by 2025.
- To reduce CO₂ emissions by 15% by 2026 and 30% by 2030 compared to 2019 levels.
- To be a driving force alongside the Blue Nature Alliance to create 18 million km² of protected marine areas by 2025.
- To ensure the re-use of 80% of waste by 2026.
- To completely eliminate single-use plastic by 2022.

An all-inclusive experience

Taking advantage of an all-inclusive offer means you can relax completely and enjoy your holiday to the full. Meals and snacks, a wide selection of drinks, room service, butler service for certain suites and staterooms, nautical equipment (masks and snorkels, stand-up paddleboards), entertainment and exclusive access to a private beach and a private islet are thus included in the price of your voyage.

A unique aura, the mana

Idyllic landscapes, earthly paradises, thousand-year-old culture, bewitching dances... Open yourself up to the mana, the sacred force of Polynesia, which permeates all decks of the ship, while in the surroundings of sumptuous decor, guided by our joyous Gauguines and Gauguins Polynesian hosts. Mana is an almost palpable force that breathes its magic into your voyage.

Children and teens in the spotlight

In partnership with Te mana o te moana, a South Pacific marine education and conservation foundation, the Moana Explorer Program invites children and teens, ages 7-15, to discover and value the natural wonders of this breathtaking part of the world through hands-on, interactive learning. Every day of the voyage, there is a combination of excursions, science activities, crafts and other adventures. Depending on the itinerary, children might learn about underwater life, create natural jewellery, conduct water experiments, go on a treasure hunt, enjoy water games in the on board pool, or design their own Polynesian artwork. Best of all, there is no fee* for this special family program! It's all part of PAUL GAUGUIN Cruises' extraordinary all-inclusive value.

*Moana Explorer Program is available only on selected departures.

Life on board

On board, the relaxed, international atmosphere, friendliness and attentive service make every moment memorable.

The Gauguines and Gauguins, our Polynesian hosts, will be with you every day from the moment you arrive on board. There are songs, cultural exchanges, pareo knotting and wreath weaving workshops, Polynesian dance classes and more. You will be able to enjoy an authentic immersion in this rich culture through interaction with them.

Blending in with the surrounding scenery, the pool is ideal for long periods of relaxation and contemplation.

Our specially designed marina platform turns the ship into your playground for all kinds of adventures on the water. It's as easy as descending to sea level and hopping aboard a paddleboard or launching a kayak.

The Deep Nature spa offers a wide choice of massages and Algotharm treatments, based on marine cosmetics. The fitness room offers the full range of machines and weight training equipment needed to stay in shape.

The shop features a collection of gift items, clothing, and jewellery made with Tahitian pearls.

Near the restaurant L'Étoile, the piano bar provides a lounge atmosphere with performances by the pianist on board. This is the perfect opportunity to relax before or after your meal.

There is entertainment on board every day, including local artists invited on board, piano concerts and dance evenings. The pleasure of the discoveries made on land continues with engaging lectures given by the experts who accompany you during your trip.
