DAY 4

Fly to the Serengeti

In Maasai the word Serengeti means the place where the land moves on forever. See why when you fly to Serengeti National Park this morning, where over a million wildebeest and 200,000 zebras trek from the southern Serengeti to the Maasai Mara and back every year. In spite of the dangers they face from crocodiles, lions and weather conditions, these animals are driven by instinct to search for food and water. Their annual trek takes them through parks, reserves and protected areas with different habitats. Check into your camp for a memorable three night stay in the heart of the park, strategically positioned for sightings of the migration you'll have a front row seat for this amazing spectacle. After lunch, join an expert tracker for an afternoon game drive into the Serengeti wilderness; look for wildebeest, zebras and Thomson's gazelles. Return to the camp for dinner. Meals BLD

During your stay at Legendary Serengeti Songa Camp, located in the national park, enjoy up close viewing of the wildlife.

DAY 5

Daily life in the Serengeti

As dawn breaks over the Serengeti savanna, the morning rituals of the park's wildlife herald a new day. Look for lions, hyenas, leopards, cheetahs, jackals, gazelles, zebras, elephants, hippos and more on a morning game drive. Spend the rest of the day at leisure in your wilderness camp, immersing in the kind of quintessential African experience that thrilled early explorers like David Livingstone and inspired writer Ernest Hemingway. Meals BLD

DAY 6

Game drives in the Serengeti

Morning and afternoon game drives keep you on the move with the animals transiting the Serengeti in their relentless search for food and water. On days when the migration is in full force, you will more than likely spend the entire day out on safari instead of returning to camp for lunch. Experiencing this amazing wildlife phenomenon as herds of wildebeest, gazelles and zebras thunder by, with the possibility of big cats and hyenas tailing closely behind, is a memorable safari experience – and when you witness these unscripted moments, you'll not soon forget them. Meals BLD

DAY 7

Fly to Maasai Mara in Kenya

An early morning flight out of the Serengeti whisks you to the shores of Lake Victoria, then on to Kenya where you'll land in Maasai Mara National Reserve for a three-night stay. En route to your tented camp accommodations, you'll have an opportunity to stop for a bush lunch. Continue on to your stay at &Beyond Kichwa Tembo, which looks out at the Sabaringo River and across the vast plains of the Maasai Mara, one of the world's richest wildlife reserves. Head out into the reserve for an afternoon game drive that offers the opportunity to view an array of animals, including zebras, cheetahs, wildebeest, gazelles and the "Big Five," up close and in their natural habitat; the Maasai Mara is considered one of the world's premier destinations for safaris. Have dinner at your luxury tented camp, then retire to your accommodations for the evening. Meals BLD

DAY 8

Balloon flight over the Maasai Mara

Wake up early for an extraordinary morning that begins with a hot air balloon flight* at dawn, high above the treetops, for panoramic views of the golden African savanna of Maasai Mara Reserve. As you soar above the vast landscapes below, enjoy the possibility of spotting massive herds of

Wildebeest, born to move

One of the largest members of the antelope family, wildebeest (gnus) make their homes in plains and open woodlands of Africa. As herd animals active day and night, they're constantly on the move in search of grass and water. In the Serengeti-Mara ecosystem, they make a migratory circle of hundreds of miles each year. This march of millions is relentless, taking them across land and water in massive groups of young and old.

giraffes, elephants, gazelles, hippos and other grazers moving toward the water to drink and bathe. Perhaps you'll spot a cheetah or lioness on the hunt in the lush grasslands, or hyenas; every day is different. Touch down for breakfast and champagne in the bush before a game drive en route back to your tented camp. Spend some time as you please before an afternoon game drive and dinner. Meals BLD

DAY 9

Final game drives in the Maasai Mara

You'll have an opportunity today for two game drives in the magnificent Maasai Mara Reserve. Early this morning, before breakfast, join us for an opportunity to view the early search for food by wildlife - especially lions, cheetah and leopards, each of which prefer to hunt in the cool of dawn and dusk. Enjoy your final day at &Beyond Kichwa Tembo before a late afternoon game drive in search of the "Big Five". This evening, we invite you to join us for farewell cocktails and dinner at the lodge. Meals BLD

Life in the Antarctic Archipelago

Once part of a large equatorial land mass that broke off on its own about 180 million years ago – and today one of the most remote places on Earth – the great white continent of Antarctica astounds with glacial landscapes and wildlife. Cruising with Tauck provides the rare opportunity to view these natural wonders up-close, with experts who have spent a lifetime studying them. Travel ashore is by Zodiac, bringing you up close to the amazing wildlife.

Our two sister ships, Le Boréal and L'Austral, launched a new era of award-winning small ship cruising. Known for their elegance, personality, and eco-friendly technologies, they are designed for expeditionary cruising in Antarctica and enjoy the highest quality standards. Small is truly big aboard these ships with just 122 – 132 staterooms and suites, all with ocean views. Evenings are a mix of lectures, chats with the expedition team, and documentary films or perhaps just relaxing in the ship's lounge or library.

■ DAY 6-10

Antarctic exploration

Your first sighting of the Antarctic Archipelago, where ice, sea, land, and sky effortlessly blend together into a single portrait of spectacular beauty, will be a lifelong memory. While cruising, the Antarctic weather determines your daily schedule so that each departure's itinerary will differ slightly from the others, but all typically include a visit to one site in the morning and a second site in the afternoon. Landings ashore are preceded by a naturalist's briefing, providing insights into the discoveries you will make at each site. The landings themselves are guided by our naturalists and lecturers. You'll explore the world of the fascinating (and highly entertaining) penguin, walking among them on the beaches while observing their rookeries and trails and treks into the sea for food.

Enjoy an opportunity to spot seals on ice floes and along the shore – you'll soon learn to identify the many different species of birds at sea and on land. Southern elephant seals, so named for their massive size and the trunk-like nose of the male, prefer to hang out in beach parties; look for them on rocky island shores. Conditions permitting, your captain will navigate the ship around the Lemaire Channel; here be on the lookout for humpback whales, always a breathtaking sight. There is a continual dramatic parade of icebergs and unique ice formations in the waters, deep blue, light blue, green, clear, and snow white. The formations materialize in an amazing variety of shapes and sizes, visible throughout the evening under a night sky and illuminated by a sun that appears never to completely set. Meals BLD

■ DAY 11

Drake Passage crossing

Your return trip through the Drake Passage affords quiet time for you to be able to reflect on the vast range of experiences that you have shared with your fellow cruisers. During your passage, onboard lectures continue to enrich your Antarctic experience. Meals BLD
